

Venitra D. Glass

Venitra D. Glass throughout her career, has contributed her administrative skills to a variety of child and family-serving organizations in the central Ohio area, including the YMCA and Moms2B. She has assisted families with everything from literacy and budgetary challenges to teaching the importance of good prenatal care. Now as the Administrative Assistant for the Child Maltreatment Policy Resource Center, Venitra applies her many skills to a variety of administrative and customer service responsibilities, including meeting coordination and management, assisting on small research projects, and providing timely and responsive services to both colleagues and consumers.

In Venitra's free time, she is a spokesperson and advocate for Uncaged, a non-profit organization committed to breaking the barriers between families, their children and education by providing access to books. Venitra also enjoys dogs, walking, and riding bikes on trails with her family.
